Mail Features

We offer a free, basic email service with all hosting accounts. This is only limited by the web space available on your hosting account.

We do however not suggest that you keep your email and website on the same server. We recommend you host your email with a pro, third-party email service for better delivery rates and redundancy.

While this does have a small cost, email storage is always much cheaper than web storage. Contact us and we will recommend an excellent email host.
